Swedish-Australian electropop twin sister duo, Say Lou Lou, dropped their debut album today and we lala love it! Their preceding singles, "Julian" and "Nothing but a Heartbeat", set the tone for the full-length album, appropriately named "Lucid Dreaming". Housy dance beats reverberate throughout each track combined with the twins' dreamy vocals for a truly unique musical experience.

As the daughters of Steve Kilbey (from the band, The Church), Miranda Anna and Elektra June Kilbey-Jansson's inherited musical talent is evident on "Lucid Dreaming".

Opening track, "Everything We Touch", and subsequent track, "Glitter", will make excellent additions to any "getting ready for a night out" playlist with their glitter-themed lyrics. #ThrowSomeGlitterMakeItRain

“Skylights” stands out among the already impressive tracklist as a hopeful, fists-in-the-air anthem. With lyrics like “We gotta keep on moving on and on/We gotta keep on moving to stay strong”, this song is the perfect mood booster.

Be warned: this is an album you won’t be able to get out of your head.

Take a listen to the album on NPR.
